GILDA

Gilda is a table lamp with a Murano glass base. The base is produced by a traditional process in the furnace, in which several layers of coloured glass are superimposed to create this effect that will be different in every piece. Then it is blown individually in a stamp determining the shape. After the tempering process the glass it is passed by a band to obtain the matt finish. The shade is a truncated cone with top diffuser disc, available in white fabric only. The base is lit internally thanks to a LED system that can be switched on/off independently from the lampshade.
